Hi Girls:

How is the weather where you are? I thought with the weather being below zero for the past two weeks that some of the girls would not want to venture out of their warm homes to travel to the meeting. But we had fourteen brave souls come to be with their friendly Sisters and Wives.

It was good to see Cynthia and Sonya here after an absence, they both sure looked in good health and physically fit. Understand these two have bought some property not to far from us. I wonder are these two fine people going to build a T.V. Haven for all their T.V. Sisters.

Priscilla one of our newer members came last night with his girl friend Rosalie we had a very nice talk with her and I must say I enjoyed having her in our group last night. We all do hope to see you back again soon with us here for an evening Rosalie.

Phyllis who is Joans better half was also here early in the evening for the first time. Phyllis had come before several times but it would be later in the night. The girls at the bar last night seemed to be having a ball with Wilma behind the bar telling some of her stories of funny experiences when she was a bus operator before retirement. It makes me feel good to see the wives of the T.V.'s who come to be able to relax and enjoy themselves as much as the mates enjoy them being with them here in the secret life that some how was meant for them. It is people like Rosalie a girl friend and the wives who accept their mates feelings for the life they enjoy that makes this group so unique in that every thing is on the up and up. As long as I am the Hostess here no wife or girlfriend will ever be embarrassed by any T.V.'S or any other person. Wilma and I have done every thing we possibly could to bring a better life for the T.V.'s and their wives to have some one who is not understanding of the problem and will not try to learn some of the facts about Transvestism and what it really stands for. It's a sad life for a person who knows that her husband is a T.V. and she cannot suppress that feeling in him to satisfy her wants and live her life style. It only takes time to read some literature on the subject and not listen to outsiders who don't know what they talk about. To approach a person who knows nothing about Transvestism is like talking to a child, they will only be telling you the things you already think that your husband is sick. There is far worse things going on in this world that is more sickening than men being T.V.'s.

We have lost one of our dearly loved members in Dec, her name Clare H. of Richmond, Ind. Clare was 83 years young and was still a woman who passed in Public. Clare kept her secret from her family all these many years. Now we must keep her secret even though she has left us. In respect for her Please do not send any mail or condolences, also remove her name from your mailing list from your T.V. corresponding directory.

The girls who were here last night were: Dennie and Michelle Ann from Somerville, Mass., Nancy and Diana from Stanfordville, N.Y., Sonya and Cynthia from Norwalk, Conn., Renee from Stratford, Conn., Rosalie and Pricilla from Scotia, N.Y., Winnie from Schenectady, N.Y., Joan and Phyllis from Colonie, N.Y., Karen from Clifton Park, N.Y., Susan from Nassau, N.Y., Alice from Colonie, N.Y., Wilma and I.

For these girls I had Meat Loaf, corn mashed potatoes, baked cauliflower, stuffed peppers, cole slaw, rolls, banana cake, coffee. the banana cake was made by Dennie.

How about this one for a laugh:
One of our members was late getting to the meeting because she was arrested for breaking into her own car. Why, because she left her keys inside her car. A little bit of luck on her part as a person she knew at the station asked what she was doing there when he was told the story, he quickly checked it out and let our member go. lucky she was in male clothes. Who might that be you ask! None other than our Susan who some how can laugh at these things that happen and give all the girls a good laugh.

We miss all you girls that didn't make the meeting. Be seeing you all soon.

LOVE

HELEN

"You and your once more for old time's sake!"

A WORD ABOUT GOING OUT

It appears from various letters which I receive daily that some of you girls look upon femmepassing in public as a sort of goal or evidence of having made it. May I issue a few words of caution, comment and advice. In the first place I do not blame anyone for wanting to be able to femme-pass and to have the experiences which it brings, but I also don't want some of you to have some of the less desirable experiences which may come your way...

It is one thing to look forward to doing this for ones own inner satisfaction and pleasure, but it is quite another thing to do so as a sort of graduation exercise to earn your official recognition as a TV. Please don't have this last feeling. It will lead some of you who are not as blessed as others with a reasonably feminine appearance to attempt something that may very likely get you into trouble. One is a TV because of how she feels inside, not in terms of what she does...

Feel your femininity, and express it, but do not impose it upon society just to prove that you can, because with this attitude in mind you will probably give yourself away. Be content to express it with your own family, with others of the same persuasion in private or at TV meetings, unless you are well enough built, feminine enough in facial appearance, and knowledgeable enough in feminine behavior to get lost in the crowd of other women...

If you must and do go out then at least stay within the limitations of clothing and behavior of the women with whom you will be mingling. By this I mean, don't wear five inch heels on the street--nobody does; don't wear cocktail dresses or party-type clothing to go shopping. If you are past thirty do not wear a blond wig. Blond hair is very hard on most women, but with the TV it is worse because it tends to call attention and emphasize the traces of masculinity in the face. Don't wear a very fancy, curly type of hair do. This, I have observed, is so ultra feminine that it appears to be out of step with the rest of you and tends to bring out the masculinity of the face rather than the feminine. On the positive side; wear simple clothes like the other women wear when shopping. Church, of course, calls for your better dresses, but still dignified and not with sequins and low necklines. Hair coloring and hair-do should be appropriate to your own coloring and age. If you are over 40 remember that, like it or not, you are a middle aged matron and shouldn't try to look like an 18 year old debutante. TV's too have to learn to accept the limitations of age just as women do. It is harder for the TV actually to do this, than the natural women since they at least had their girlhood and young woman hood to enjoy. Most TV's have not had this opportunity and reach for it avidly. This is natural since we all carry an ideal of feminine beauty and attractiveness in our minds, and it is almost surely based on what we considered pretty and desirable when we were in our early twenties ourselves. But--if you don't want to look out of place BE YOUR AGE...

The reason for writing a little on this subject is to point out that TV's who go out in public and do not succeed in becoming just one of the girls tend to call attention to themselves by improper clothing, hairdo, makeup or behavior. Such attention invites thoughtful reappraisal of you, and some fusty old character will come up with the right answer and report you. This is not only bad for the individual but tends to hurt the movement too, since it is usually written up in the papers in an uncomplimentary way, leads people to be more observing and critical of what they see--more aware, as it were, with the possibility of reading someone else, and in more extreme cases, of initiating repressive ordinances in towns which may not have them already, or of encouraging the police to crack down even more...

So, the problem resolves itself to the fact that we have responsibilities to our own inner selves, but we also have it to our TV group and to society in general. So if you go out watch all the little things as far as appearance goes, and study womens behavior patterns carefully so that you don't get tripped up by some little inadvertence. If you are going to bring life to your femmeside don't try to be the MOST any more than the LEAST. Strive for a middle ground where you will be just one among many and thus draw no more than usual attention to yourself. After all, your goal is authenticity, acceptability and femininity--not curiosity, publicity and difficulty.

Femininely Yours, WILMA.

Remember all our girls are men, yet every one is a lady!

The compulsion to cross-dress does not just go away because a wife wants it to. Indeed, in every case we have seen great emotional conflict is set up when the man, because he deeply loves his wife, tries to completely suppress the drive. The wife of a TV, perhaps more than any other wife, has the power to bring great happiness to her husband by just showing a modicum of human compassion.

I read every letter that comes in, even though I don't always find time to answer each one. They are greatly appreciated, and all the material and ideas for our Journal comes from them... So keep writing, PLEASE...

Two of our girls are doing professional fashion modeling..Both are married with children, are working with real models, and only the head of the model agency knows the truth..and doesnt care....

HELPFUL HINTS

To keep the newly pierced ear holes open and yet go unnoticed at work, merely cut off very short pieces of clear nylon filament fishing leader line 40, 50,60pd test size and insert in the holes during the times you will be without the studs untill ears are healed. (about 6 weeks)

A member asks "What do you suggest in applying eye-liner? I always smear mine and make a mess." Well first lightly powder over the surface of your eye.. Second, with the fingers of your left ha nd at the outer corner of the eye, to be made up pull the eye shut. This will mak~~e~~ your eye smoth and slanted. Starting at the inner corner draw your line next to your lashes accross to the outer eye. This pulls the skin on your eye smoth and allows you to draw a neet line. I have found the best way to avoid smear- ing the line, and also to have my shadow long lasting...

QUESTION OF THE MONTH REPLIES:

QUE. Who have you told about your FEMME PERSONATION AND WHAT WAS THEIR ATTITUDE?

As the very idea of telling someone of your crossdressing simply horrified some girls. I was not swamped with responses. However, the ones who did sent in some nice replies. For instance read the next 4 letters.

Lois of Allentown Pa. SAYS: I had been married for some time before my love for feminine things, which had been present in my early life and adolescence, suddenly blossomed. My wife found out when she discovered I was wearing a soft nighty in bed. It had never dawned on me that she would be so upset!! Ever since then I have been trying to bring her around to a favorable point of view, but in vain. I also let my daughter know of my dressing. She has not seen me dressed femininely but indicated that she could understand it. Finally I discussed the matter with our psychiatric consultant who knew that I was very capable in my field and told me not to try to suppress the urge.

Ruth of Middletown, Conn. Says: It was my second Halloween after my marriage and we were living within walking distance of my wife's folks. For a gag we exchanged clothes. This was the first time I dressed up in front of my wife or went out for a walk so dressed. Her folks thought I looked real good, and then when it came time to leave her sister insisted that I help with the dishes first. I tried getting out of it by saying I did not want to spoil my wife's good dress, but for an answer they took me to their rooms and had me change into a house dress. My wife was not the least bit pleased with this, but needless to say I enjoyed the evening very much. When we got home that night I started to explain to my wife just how I felt about it all, but she would not listen and said it was foolishness except as a gag now and then. A few months later we moved into a duplex with a former school chum of my wife's. About this time my wife would have me model any new dress she bought. It was on one of these occasions when Francis her girl friend walked in on us and saw me with the dress on. I thought for sure she would make fun of me but she only said that the color and style of the dress suited me. It was a few weeks after this that my wife was visiting her folks for the day and Francis asked me to have dinner with her. During dinner we talked about the time she found me wearing my wife's dress and I had no trouble telling her just how I felt about it. She asked why I was not dressed right then while I had the chance. I told her I had tried to dress when my wife was away but she would discover that I had not put her things away just right and become angry. Francis said, That is too bad. I do not see anything wrong with it. Well, it was not too long before I was fully dressed in some of Francis's things for the rest of the evening. She said she would speak to my wife and see if she would not start getting me a few things to wear. One night Francis showed me all her bridal clothes and asked if I would like to try them on. Of course I said yes, and she promised me the opportunity the next time we were alone for a full day. It was about a month later that my wife went away for a week's holiday with her folks. On Friday night Francis gave me one of her satin nighties and told me to give myself a real close shave the next morning and that she would dress me as a bride. I was so excited that night that I did not sleep much. Next morning I put on the house coat she had left me and went over to her place for breakfast, then dressed. I was surprised that Francis had falsies and a wig with shoulder length curls for me. I felt excited and thrilled as I put on her lovely white, laced trimmed, satin undies. She had had me remove all the hair from my body, and use bath salts. Then she gave me a facial and told me that soon I would feel like a blushing bride. Well, when she was all finished dressing me and had placed the veil over my hair I looked at myself in the mirror and could hardly believe my eyes. I looked and felt like a woman. I told Francis that I had never felt more wonderful. She replied that I looked so much like a woman that she was going to call me Ruth. From then on Ruth became Francis's special friend, and she bought a lot of lovely gifts for me to wear. And because of Francis even my wife finally bought a few things for Ruth....

Joyce A. Of New York City Says:
 Here are some of the people that I have told, and their reactions:
 Beautyician and hair stylist: AMAZEMENT;
 Bartenders: Don't believe me when I'm male and think I'm tight. If I tell them when I'm male, AMAZEMENT!!
 Girl Friends: Surprise, Astonishment, and in some cases indifference, and in other cases concern and desire to know why.
 Wife: DISCUSS!! Strangers ask what pleasure I get from it. Most doubt the picture I show are really me. Those who do believe act amazed.

"You two have a lot in common—
 You're both my sex objects."

 SHIRLEY Of Montreal, Canada Says: Probably the easiest way to bring up the subject is to borrow a girls clothes for some occassion, such as Halloween, a play,, a masquerade, etc..Her curiosity is usually detailed and exhustive..Any ~~for~~ borrowing should be done from a friend of the family..And~~x~~ never make the mistake of taking it lightly for a womans clothes are part of her and must be treated with respect, and if you dont make a presentable appearance when dress ed you wont get her clothes a second time..If when you ask she turns you down, that settles it..Ask somebody else..If she bundles up a garment and shoves it at you through the door you arent getting anywhere, but if she invites you over to try on something youve got it made..If some of your female relatives are in on it, it helps to explain the feminine undergarments..However,a mysterious look at the clothes donner is just as good an explanation and hightens the injoyment..It also allows you to swear the lady to secrecy and thus assures you that the news will be known by halh the women in town by the next afternoon and by most of the husbands by the next morning..This is what is known as the scatter-gun or saturation manner of bringing your hobby to the attention of the community..It is not so damaging as you would suppose..The girls giggle and get confidential with you, some of the men consider you slightly deranged, but you get invloved in any kind of dressing occassion that turns up..It is an excuse for any Halloween escapade that might be desireable, and usually assures you of a female escort..The gals are not so reluctant to assist you as might be supposed, and the more authentic you are the bigger the kick they seem to get from it..Of course there are those who disapprove, but that is to be expected..It has been said that the small town atmosphere is not to be attempted for a TV..If it is a secret this ~~is~~ probably true, but TVing brought out in the open in a small town is not only possible, but can be quite desireable.

Wilmas note: There were other~~x~~ replies also..One told a Gypsey fortune teller just to get the feel of telling someone..Several girls have told sales clerks where they buy their feminine finery, and have received understanding..One of our members was exposed in the newspapers by a vindictive wife in a divorce case..But in every case the TV felt better after telling someone, even without acceptance..This much seems to be true..Every TV suffers guilt..This guilt disappears in exact ration to the acceptance he receives from other human beings..That is why we formed the TVIC CLUB, among other reasons..It is best if you can talk about TVism with someone who you know will understand such as a TVIC MEMBER..Next best is talking to anyone..After all,there cant be too much wrong with ~~it~~ being feminine..About half the worlds population is built that way..Now how about getting in more replies in on the QUESTION OF THE MONTH.

Dear Wilma: I am 65 years old, married 31 years and all my life have been a TV..Seldom a day goes by that Im not completely dressed as a woman some part of the day..As a youngster I was always dressed as a girl with long curly hair and a hairbow..When I started school my hair was cut and I only wore dresses after school and on weekends..After graduation from private school I stayed at home with my mother who encouraged me to dress as a young lady..She always kept me well supplied with pretty dresses, lingerie, night gowns, robes etc..After my mothers death I fell in love with my wife who has helped me to satisfy my desire for feminine attire.Barbara A...MAINE...

Two young atlanta engineers were reminiscing about their college days when one of them remarked, I sure wish I could have gone to Georgia Tech...Said his friend, Oh, hell, you wouldnt have liked Tech too much..The only graduates they have are football players and whores...It just so happens that my wife graduated from Georgia Tech, the first man snapped...Oh, really? answered the friend, realizing his faux pas...Tell me, what position did she play/

Dear Wilma; Its a humdrum sort of a life..The kind that many, many females live who are unmarried..Other girls who are married or going steady dont have time for you..Ofcourse there are widows or divorcees who will bwcome good friends,with these you wile away time by going shopping or to an occasional movie, or stay at home and cook a sumptious dinner..Nevertheles in spite of the lonliness, when I read my TVIC JOURNAL I become aware of how wonderful it is to be a female ~~and~~ and not a man.. I realized how so many writing to you would gladly change places with me and be happy..So, your publication has brought home to me ~~how~~ how much better off I am as a female and made me feel a great deal of pride i knowing that I belong to the female world.LYND A..WILTON, CONN..(Lynda lives full time as a women.)

"Sometimes I think you married me for my clothes!"

Dear Wilma: You asked in your last bulletin why any of us are transvestites or transsexuals..I have been a tranvestite since I was a little boy, the earl-iest I rember was about age 10..At any rate, it was a fairly controlled desir E until I was well into my 40s, an occasional dressing, borrowed clothes, etc.. but then on it has grown and grown and grown..Now I wish that I could dress every day, all day...Couriously enoufg, I do not particularly care if I am read--other than legal implication,.If society permitted, I would not mind being seen as a man in womens clothing...But either way, my reasons are not so different from Rutham...There is, indeed, a strong sexual content to my cross-dressing...Are there many TVs who will admit that there is a Lesbian relation TV toTV...You once asked the question, but it was evaded when some-one wrote that the Lesbiaism was TV to real girl...I think it is to some extent to each other...But beyond that, I adore the freedom of skirts...I love the beautiful clothes that go with being a girl...I just wish that more attra-ctive things were made for people like me who are size 16 or better...I always feel so beautiful when I am dressed...And the other girls at your parties are always so kind...No matter how un-girllike I or others may appear, nobody offers criticism or nasty remarks...One is accepted as he/she is...Certainly it is a refuge from the male world...I hold a highly responsible postion under much tension...When I get into a dress or skirt at home I feel so relaxed, so much more at ease than I do in rough male trousers and skirt...When I am so dressed, I enjoy very much doing what used to be called womens work, doing the dishes, making beds, doing laundry or vaccuming the floor...It seems absolutely the right thing to be doing...I can surrender the decision-making to someone else, my wife or any other person ~~pre~~ preferably female...I find a womans body ab object of beauty and desire to have it...I have no desire to be a transsexual--your own warnings and those of others preclude the sligh-test interest...But I ggreatly desire to have at least the breasts of a woman, to use hormones or plastic surgery to achieve this...ALAS, this is but fantasy since real life, again both of family and business precludes this...Why am I a transvestite? Because, despite the anguish, the frustrations, the risks, be-ing a woman makes me a whole person...As a man, I am but part of a person... Successful, yes; happy, no...ELLEN S...ENDICOTT...N.Y....

Dear Wilma: I am 41 years old and have been cross-dressing since I was 12. At that age I was very active till about 16...Then the desire seemed to disa-pear! It reappeared again when I was in my middle twenties...I really had a ball! I lived in Boston and did just about everything while cross-dressed... Dining, dancing, movies, theater,concerts, etc...I was never asked, or looked at as anything but a woman...In my late twenties I got involved in a life of wine, women and song so to speak and again the terrible urge to cross-dress disappeared...I got married when I was thirty two and everything was fine, however about 4 yrs ago the desire started again...During this period I played around with it a little from time to time - a day here a day there but never got into it as it was when I was in my 20s...In general I've been a pretty dormant TV for the last 10 yrs...About 3 months ago things inside of me started to simmer and rapidly came to a rolling boil.' Last month the lid blew off and I couldnt suppress it any longer...I gave in to my female person-ality and went on a shopping spree...My wife had known for many years, however she had never seen me dressed until last month...She took it reasonably well, but is not very happy about it...From time to time I've had psychiatric coun-selling to try and work it out but to no avail...Im presently seeing a psy-chiatrist but Im not getting anywhere and feel its a waste of time and money. It does seem to reasure my wife-shes going to have a meeting with him next week and I hope he may be able to calm her fears and anxiety...As it stands now Im sort of in a delimma...I dont want to hurt my wife becaue I really love her, but at the same time, if I cant crossdress when the urge overtakes me I feel as it I'll scream...Since I started again I'm sort of in the closet but thats only because theres no where to go...I've gone for a few drives and walks while crossdressed (even got a couple of whistles one night while I was walking our dog - made me feel good - gave me some of my confidence back)... I've been concerned about my appearance because of my age and weight...I'm not fat but could loose a few pounds! Ha! Ha! At this point in time I dont want to stop crossdressing...And yet I'd sort of like to but not really! I just cant bring myself to being sin-cere about stopping it...What I really wany to do is simp-ly let my female counterpart take over completely, mind, body and sole - so to speak...DIANTHA K., ORWELL, VT...

A cross-dresser by the name SUE M. was recently told that if his work did not improve he would finf a pink slip in his envelope along with his pay...To that remark Sue said, How nice...Make it a size 36...

NEWS; It has been under cover for quite some time but the fact is that the play Boy Clubs have been understand-ably zipper-lipped on talk that one attractive BUNNY turned out to be a man who fooled everyone for fourmonths,

" YES, GEORGE, YOU DO LOOK BEAUTIFUL, NOW PLEASE LET'S GO!"

DEAR ABBY:

Concerning the wife who found a pair of panties in her husbands pickup truck: They could have been HIS! I am a tranvestite who had a similar experience when my ex-girlfriend went snooping through my closet and found my entire feminine wardrobe.....At first she thought I had a woman living with me, but when I showed her my wigs, padded bras and make-up she was convinced that they were mine..Abby, she didn't know what a transvestite was..She thought any man who enjoyed dressing in women's clothes was a "QUEER." Eventually we broke up.....There are many more transvestites than most people realize..We are not homosexuals, child molesters or perverts..We are friends neighbors, relatives, responsible members of the community..We are not interested in recruiting others to transvestism..We want only acceptance and understanding from those we love, and the freedom to indulge in our favorite pastime in privacy of our homes without fear of embarrassment.

ALBUQUERQUE TV.

DEAR TV: It may come as a shock to many to learn that most men who enjoy dressing in womens attire privately are not at all effeminate unless "dressed" And their sexual behavior is strictly masculine!

DEAR ABBY:

Three months ago I finally accepted my yearnings to become a male and I began the necessary treatment in anticipation of having a sex change operation.....First I ended my affair with my boy-friend, and then I started the hormone treatments..Shortly afterward I felt that something was amiss; I was examined and learned that I was pregnant!....Determined to go ahead with the sex change surgery, I continued the hormone treatments, but being a devout Catholic I cannot consider an abortion..Yet, I don't want a child.....My former boy-friend is begging me to have the child, marry him and forget about the sex change operation.....Abby, I was looking forward both physically and emotionally to a new life as a transsexual..What course should I take? D.

DEAR D.: Since abortion is out, give birth to the child, then reconsider having a sex change operation.....If you still feel like a male emotionally and want a body that corresponds with your feelings, resume your original plan..If the motherhood experience tips the scale in favor of living as a woman. follow that relation..But do not marry a male unless you feel your female.

DEAR ABBY:

About the letter from the married couple who were very self-conscious because she was about six inches taller than her husband, so they started going to restaurants together-she dressed as the man, and he the woman: They asked you if it was against the law, and you wisely suggested that they check their local laws.....Abby, they have a legal right to dress as they wish as a part of their constitutional right to privacy.....However, should they use the public restrooms, they might run into trouble..A man caught in a womans restroom, even if hes dressed as a woman, risks being charged with violating laws against peeping toms and indecent exposure..Similarly, a woman caught dressed as a man in a womans restroom, or a man caught dressed as a woman in a mens room may be detained to prove correct sexual identity.. So perhaps they should consider risks when weighing whether to do something they have a legal right to do...ARLINGTON,VA..ATTORNEY

DEAR ATTORNEY: You make several good points..Even though cross-dressing in restaurants may be legal, its not advisable.....

WHY STOP SMOKING?? One KOOL even: ing in WINSTON SALEM NO. CAROLINA: Miss PAUL MALL who had just flown in from MARLBORO COUNTRY went for a stroll down CHESTERFIELD LANE she was going over to KENT to meet PHILP..MORRIS A VICROY from BALTIMORE..He asked her to go to TARYTON HOTEL for a LARK. As they lay in his old gold bed watching TV she murmured ITS not how LONG YOU MAKE IT,ITS HOW LONG YOU MAKE IT LONG with that he popped his KING L&M into her fliptop box and if she doesnt look like a CAMEL in 9 months it will be a LUCKY STRIKE But dont worry PHILIP MORRIS was a thinking man and used a filter tip.They said it couldnt be done, but its whats up front that counts.

Masquerade As a Woman Jails Mover

WILLIAM SPERLING

"Comes Winter—I like to get into women's duds."

Something about the stride of the figure ahead of him early yesterday attracted the eyes of Patrolman Finerty as he walked his beat at 525th St. and Manhattan Ave. Finerty followed the click of the high heels, the swish of the fur-collared coat.

"Nice morning!" said Finerty three times before he got an answer—in a bass voice.

Yesterday partly-bald, white-haired William Sperling, 55, furniture mover, of 940 Third Ave., stood in Week End Court, a brunette, long-bob wig in one hand. The charge was masquerading as a woman.

"Come Winter," he explained, "I like to get into women's duds. What's the harm? Women wear men's clothes."

Magistrate Kross sent him to Bellevue for observation.

Three Boys Clad as Girls

The dawn-dim streets of Washington Heights were deserted today when Patrolman Rocco Lanor cruised the vicinity of 187th St. and Broadway in a radio car. Deserted—except for three young girls who were strolling listlessly along the sidewalk.

They were startled as he approached and shyly shrank to the wall of an apartment house.

"What are you doing here?" asked the officer.

"Aw, nuthin' much," growled one of the trio.

Surprised at the gruff voice, Lanor looked more closely. Despite the skirts, sweaters and high heeled shoes, he could tell the three were boys.

Tries to Explain

One of them, described by police as the Lana Turner of the group, tried to explain. Attired in blazing red sweater and green dress, he said he was Charles Earle, 15, of 610 W. 110th St.

He introduced his companions, Charles Bryan, 15, of 204 E. 25th St., who wore a white sweater, red blouse and dress, blue socks, a girl's straw hat and carried a handbag, and Virginio Ruez, 10, who said he wasn't sure just where he lived. Modish in a pink and white striped dress, short sweater and black, high heeled shoes, he recalled he had lived on Intervale Ave., the Bronx, but said he thought his parents had moved.

Earle, with promptings and corrections from the others, explained to Detective James O'Keefe at the Wadsworth Ave. station house that the three had been summering at Camp Locust, near Smithtown, L. I.

Start for Home

They were to have gone to a masquerade there last night but, they said, had an argument with one of the councilors and instead set out for home.

They hitched rides to Jamaica, even though outlandishly garbed, and then took the Independent subway to Times Square. There they stayed only long enough to look around before taking the Seventh Ave. subway to Washington Heights.

Police laughed at their appearance and their apparent plight. Then they found a toy pistol in the handbag and decided to hold the three for further questioning.

She Wanted to have nothing to do with the Navy, but the Navy wanted to do plenty with "her." George V. Anderson, 19 (right), who deserted the Navy five weeks ago, was picked up at Los Angeles dressed as a great big booful girl. George's big mistake was ogling a woman in a ladies' dressing room.

Tight Shoes Lead to Arrest Of Navy Vet in Woman's Garb

Israel Sherman, 24, veteran of four years in the navy, married and the father of a 2-year-old child, was arrested early today for walking along Ocean Parkway dressed in woman's clothing, complete from turban to open-toed high-wedged shoes, and his face made up with lipstick, powder and eyebrow pencil.

A hardware salesman, Sherman lives at 1586 E. 18th St. with his wife, who told police she was flabbergasted by the masquerading charge. She did tell police, however, that for some time past her husband had made excuses to leave the house at night and usually was gone for hours.

Radio Patrolman Sidney Lazarus and George Lassen of the Avenue P station were suspicious because of the way Sherman walked, his shoes apparently hurting his feet out of all proportion to the height of their heels. He allegedly confessed that it was the eighth time he had posed as a woman.

THIS FAIR ONE IS WRESTLER

Byron Delamyle of North Branch, Mich., is a wrestler at the University of Michigan although his appearance here in the role of "Mary White" belies the fact. He has the feminine lead in "Merrie-Go-Round," the 24th annual Michigan opera which plays in a dozen eastern and mid-western cities during the Christmas holidays. Stage in George Tremble, Ellsworth, Kan., who has one of the male leads.
