Dear Lou:

Please find enclosed a notice about a research study on AIDS victims which I thought you might wish to respond to. I also sent one to Paul Walker, who recently informed me (in a response to my sending him, somewhat belatedly, a MMRF certificate of merit) that he also has the disease. I hope to be able to finally meet him in Cleveland this September at the HBIGDA symposium. I am very disappointed that I couldn't afford to come to San Francisco for the IFGE convention so that I could get a chance to meet you at long last, but "that's the breaks", I guess. However, you are always welcome to come visit us. Our place is somewhat cramped just now as [redacted] and I are sharing a two-bedroom apartment with a roommate, but never fear, we'll make room. Oh, and we will be going to S.F. for our honeymoon sometime next year. (We will probably get married this September or October).

Yes, please list GENDER WORKER (counselor, educator, researcher, writer, reviewer, compiler and book distributor), but not GENDER NETWORKER (which ceased publishing September 1988), in the resources section of your new handbook.

I am also enclosing a review of your book (2nd edition) which I just completed today. Please let me know when the third edition will be released and the price, and could you please send me a complimentary copy as I would like to distribute your book if you could offer me a 40% discount like the other publishers do. I now distribute three titles (mentioned in the ad enclosed) and hope to be able to sell more sometime in the future.

How is your biography of Jack Bee Garland coming along? Please send me a copy so that I might review it. Thanks a lot. Take care now and please drop me a line when you get a chance.

I just bought a new computer for $2600 with a hard disk and two floppy drives, 640K, an internal modem, mouse, etc., housebrand.

Your brother,

Rupert Raj

PS. $ 8.00 in U.S. bills enclosed for a copy of your video on f-m's. Also, please send me a copy of the audiotape of that Dutch gay f-m. Thanks.

Release Immediately

AIDS, ARC, HIV+ and the Psychology of Control

A study being conducted at Yale University's Department of Psychology by Dr. Christian S. Crandall and his associates is looking for participants who have tested positive for HIV. The study aims to determine the social and psychological outlook of PWA's, and their effects on physical and psychological well-being. The goal is to change the application of medical and support services in a more effective manner.

Persons with AIDS, ARC and HIV seropositive are needed.
Confidentiality is strictly enforced.

To participate, or for further information, please contact the Yale Project on the Psychology of AIDS, Elizabeth Tse, Director, at P.O. Box 7172 Yale Station, Yale University, New Haven CT, 06520, or call collect at (203) 436-0805.
