- > Kay Has Great Adventure

POSITIVE ANALYSIS!

Dr. Linda Geronilla made a wonderful presentation to the membership during the May meeting. She gave an interesting talk on the dynamics of behavior and then related this to the psychology of Cross Dressing. Linda was witty and charming and we thoroughly enjoyed her visit. Many of us left the meeting with new insights on our own behavior. Many thanks Linda, please come again!

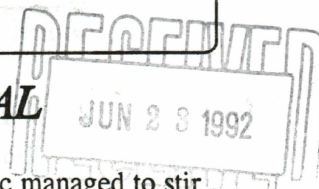

BUFFET BEAUTY

Kay engaged in a new experience. She went out to a restaurant with Jenny and Linda G. prior to our meeting. It is my understanding that she "passed" with flying colors and had a wonderful time. Since the restaurant was crowded, it seems clear that Kay was perceived as one of the many lovely ladies dining out that particular evening.

Congratulations Kay. May the rest of us be as successful as you have been when we venture out into the real world.

BRA - ZEAL

Well another interesting topic managed to stir some debate during our last meeting. There seems to be a difference of opinion among the members as to the acceptability and comfort of the underwire bra. A straw poll was taken concerning the underwire bra -- with the following results: 17% felt that the underwire bra was a satisfactory undergarment when fitted properly. 83% felt that the underwire bra had no redeeming value regardless of how well it fit. If you have an opinion on the underwire bra and would like to share it with us, please send your thoughts to Trans-West Virginia.

ROLL CALL!

Present for the May meeting were: Alona, Bridgette, Letha, Susan, Beverly, Kay, Jenny, Alice, Doris, Tabetha, Debbie, Kristi, and Linda. Our next meeting will be on June 19, 1992. See you then.

The members of TWV wish to express their sympathy to Renee and Mary on the loss of Renee's mother. May God be with you and help you find strength during this difficult time.

THE OTHER SIDE

MY STORY

BY: JENNIFER FOX

CONTINUED... To my astonishment my wife really enjoyed dressing me up as a woman. As time went on, it was rather routine for me to wear feminine finery around the house. Often when Debbie would go shopping for clothes, she would bring Jennifer something back as well.

Through the years of our marriage my old college friend David, would occasionally come for visits. Debbie had been in several classes with David and considered him to be a good friend as I did. When David visited he would often speak to me in private asking about my cross dressing and how Debbie reacted to it. He was surprised when I first told him how she dressed me up. David told me I was a very lucky guy to have a wife like Debbie. I agreed.

As the years passed by, Debbie and I began to drift apart. She had her things to do and I had mine. Eventually it got to the point where our marriage became unworkable. After being together for more than 13 years we parted company.

I wrote to David telling him of my divorce. He wrote back expressing shock over the break-up. He did, however, extend support and understanding which I deeply appreciated. David helped me through the dark days immediately following my divorce. We became closer and soon I had a chance to help him.

As you may recall, David was undecided about his sexual preference while in college and this remained an unresolved issue for him after all these years. About a year after my divorce David was at my house for a visit and we were having another heart to heart talk about our problems and feelings when he asked me a curious question. David wanted to know if I were still dressing-up as Jennifer. I told him yes, why? He then asked me if I would dress-up as Jennifer for him. I asked him why. David told me that he had heard a lot about Jennifer but never actually seen her.

Not being one to pass on a chance to be Jennifer for a while, I told David that I would dress-up for him if he promised to behave himself. He promised. I told him that it would take me about an hour because I would need to shave and take a bath. He said fine, to take my time. With that I left the livingroom as David was turning CNN on. When I told David I had to shave, I did not tell him that included my legs and underarms.

The actual time to become Jennifer took about one hour and twenty minutes. I had picked out my best outfit and worked some magic with make-up. When I entered the livingroom David was in visual shock. He could not believe his eyes. David's first word was WOW. He looked me up and down then said, "you shaved your legs. I can't get over how good you look." Boy did I feel good. A real ego booster. I twirled around and my skirt flared out exposing the bottom portion of my slip. David said, "you are wearing a slip!" I said yes silly, girls are supposed to wear slips under their skirts. There I was standing in front of my friend David wearing panties, bra, garter belt, stockings, slip, a light blue blouse, blue skirt, and high heels. I was also wearing my best wig, earrings (with matching necklace), make-up and lipstick. David was sitting with his mouth wide open. I walked over to the couch, sat down and crossed my legs. I then leaned over, stroked my leg from my ankles to my knee then looked up and smiled at David. He looked right at me and said...
